

You're in. Now use it like it's yours.

Family Hub is a private online space for one family: calendar, meals, tasks and a reward system that quietly teaches kids about money. You are one of the first families to live in it.

FREE DURING THE BETA · NO CARD · NOTHING WILL ASK YOU TO PAY

WHAT WE'RE ASKING

Use it for real, for about two weeks, on your own phone. Real names, real chores, real week.

WHAT IT COSTS

Nothing. No card, no trial timer, no upsell while the beta is running.

WHAT YOU GET BACK

A direct line into what gets built next, and the free plan stays free for your family.

Your first 15 minutes

DO THIS BIT ON THE PHONE YOU ACTUALLY USE

1
2 MIN

START YOUR FAMILY

- Tap "Start free", then sign in with your email or Google. There is no password.
- Pick your family web address, something like /t/khan-family. It is yours and nobody else can see it.

2
5 MIN

ADD YOUR PEOPLE

- Add each child with a name, an avatar and a 4-digit PIN. Kids need no email.
- Invite the other grown-up by email. Grandparents can be added too.

3
3 MIN

DECIDE WHAT A STICKER IS WORTH

- Kids earn stickers for good habits. You set what one sticker is worth in real money, for the whole family or per child.
- This is the bit that turns chores into pocket money and money lessons.

4
5 MIN

PICK TWO OR THREE HABITS PER CHILD, THEN HAND THE PHONE OVER

- Start small. Teeth, homework, tidy room. You can always add more later.
- Let each child tap their own avatar and type their PIN. Watch what they do without helping them. That first minute tells us a lot.

Week one

JUST LIVE IN IT

Do not go hunting for things to test. Run your normal week and notice where the app helps and where it gets in the way.

You THE ADMIN

THE DAILY DRIVER

- Plan the week's meals and put the real school and club dates in the calendar.
- Put two or three real jobs on the Tasks list and give them to someone.
- Post one thing on the Noticeboard that the whole house needs to know.

Notice: anything that takes too many taps between school runs.

Your partner INVITED ADULT

THE SECOND GROWN-UP

- Accept the invite on their own phone and use it for a few days.
- Both of you open the same list at the same time and see if it stays in step.

Notice: anything they can reach that only you should control.

Your kids PIN SIGN-IN

THEIR OWN WORLD

- Let them tick their own habits each day and watch their stickers build up.
- Send them into Learn: maths, logic, world flags, drawing and a reading log.
- Let them ask for something from the reward shop and approve it yourself.

Notice: anything a child finds confusing, boring or babyish.

Week two

THE MONEY WEEK

The money CLOSE A WEEK

WHERE THE REAL VALUE LIVES

- Close a week with each child: claim, cash out, save or invest their stickers. Check the maths matches what you would have handed over in coins.
- Invest some stickers into a habit that grows them, and talk about why.
- Add the family calendar to your phone's own calendar with the private link.

The big question: did any of this change a conversation at home?

Not built yet

NO NEED TO REPORT THESE

AREA	WHAT TO EXPECT
Paying for it	There is no billing yet. Nothing in the app should ever ask you for a card. If something does, that is a bug worth telling us about.
Schools and clubs	Shared spaces for schools, clubs and community groups come later. This beta is one private family at a time.
Rough edges	Some screens still flash plain grey loading text while they think. We know. A proper loading screen is being designed.

Telling us how it went

ONE TAP, ABOUT ONE MINUTE

In the app BOTTOM RIGHT

THE PINK "GIVE FEEDBACK" BUTTON

- It sits in the bottom right corner of every page, and it is the fastest way to reach us. Nothing to install, no account needed.
- Two quick questions to start: how you would feel if Family Hub went away, and whether you would recommend it. Everything else is optional and hidden behind "A few more".
- Answer one question or all of them. Both count.

WHEN SOMETHING GOES WRONG

Four things make a report easy to act on: what you were doing, what you expected, what actually happened, and a screenshot. Even three words and a picture beats saying nothing.

When to send it

TWICE IS PLENTY

MOMENT	WHAT IS MOST USEFUL TO US
● End of week one	First impressions while they are still fresh. What confused you, what you could not find, what your kids said.
● End of week two	The honest verdict. Would you keep using it, and would you pay for it? A blunt no is worth more to us than a polite yes.
● The moment it breaks	Anything broken, wrong or unfair. Especially wrong money maths, or a child reaching something they should not.

Three questions

THE ANSWERS WE CARE MOST ABOUT

THE QUESTION	WHY WE'RE ASKING
Would you still be using it in a month?	Tells us whether it fits a real week, or was just a fun first evening.
Would you pay for it, and how much?	Name a number, or say no. Both answers are worth the same to us.
What did your kids say, unprompted?	The bit we can never see from here, and usually the most useful thing you can send.

Yours IN AND OUT

YOU STAY IN CONTROL

- Children never give an email address. Only you can add a child, set a PIN, or remove them.
- You can export everything your family has put in, or delete the whole account, from the admin area.
- Real family details are fine here. It is a genuinely private space, one family per hub.

Still beta WORTH KNOWING

TWO HONEST WARNINGS

- Things will change under you. A screen you learn this week may look different next week, because of something you told us.
- Keep anything you truly cannot lose somewhere else as well. We back up, but this is not the week to trust us with your only copy.

Stuck? QUICK FIXES

THE THREE THINGS THAT TRIP PEOPLE UP

- No sign-in email? Check your spam folder. It comes from noreply@fhapp.co, and the link only works for a short while, so ask for a fresh one if it has been sitting.
- Forgot a child's PIN? You can reset it yourself on the family members screen.
- Screen looking odd? Refresh the page first, then sign out and back in.

AFTER THE BETA

The Household plan stays free. Family is $7.99 a month and Family Pro is $12.99 once billing arrives, and you will hear about it before anyone else. Nothing will ever charge you without you choosing it first.

Thank you for lending us a real family week.

Everything you tell us, good or blunt, decides what gets built next. That is the whole point of you being here.
